WILL OF NICHOLAS LYNN COLEMAN

I, Nicholas Lynn Coleman, of Bentonville, Arkansas, make this my Will. I revoke all my prior wills and codicils.

1. FAMILY DECLARATION. 1.1 Wife and Children. I am married to Kelsey Fey Brown ("Kelsey Fey Brown"). Kelsey Fey Brown and I have no children at the time of execution of this Will.

2. ESTATE DISTRIBUTION. 2.1 Personal Items. At my death, my Executor will distribute my Personal Items (7.3.2) as directed in the list or writing that bears my signature or is in my handwriting (if any). I give the remainder of these items to Kelsey Fey Brown if she is then living, or if not, these items will be transferred to my trustee under paragraph 2.2 and held and distributed for my descendants.

2.2 Remaining Property. I give My Remaining Property (7.3.1) to the trustee of the Nicholas Coleman Revocable Trust (the "Trust") created under the Nicholas Coleman Revocable Trust Agreement dated February 4, 2025 (the "Agreement"), to be held in trust under the terms of the Agreement as it exists at my death (which refers to the Agreement as amended or restated). In the alternative, if for any reason the Nicholas Coleman Revocable Trust does not exist at the time of my death, or if for any reason a court of competent jurisdiction declares the previous disposition to the trustee of the Nicholas Coleman Revocable Trust as it exists at the time of my death to be invalid, then I incorporate by reference into this Will the terms of the Agreement in effect this date and I give my Remaining Property to the trustee of the Nicholas Coleman Revocable Trust to be held in trust under those terms. To the extent permissible, I intend that the Nicholas Coleman Revocable Trust be administered as a private (rather than a testamentary) trust and that the Nicholas Coleman Revocable Trust (including any property added to it by this paragraph 2.2) will not be subject to the jurisdiction of any probate court.

3. EXECUTOR 3.1 List. I appoint the first person set forth in the following list to serve as executor of this Will and my probate estate ("Executor"):

(1) Kelsey Fey Brown; then
(2) Arvest Trust Company.

If a person is unable or unwilling to serve, resigns or ceases to serve as Executor for any reason, the first person set forth in the previous list (starting in order again) who is willing and able to serve will become Executor.

3.2 Ancillary Administration. In the event that an ancillary administration of my probate estate is needed outside of my domicile for any reason, if my Executor is permitted to qualify in the other jurisdiction, I appoint my Executor as ancillary executor in that jurisdiction. If my Executor is unable or unwilling to qualify in the other jurisdiction, then I appoint as my ancillary executor in that jurisdiction the person selected by my Executor in writing. Except to the extent that the following powers, privileges and status are not allowed under the other jurisdiction, my ancillary executor will have:

(1) those powers granted to my Executor under this Will;

N

(2) those privileges and the status given my executor under this Will (e.g., no requirement to post bond);

(3) those powers that are inherently granted in the other jurisdiction to executors or that may be granted by reference to the statutory powers statutes of the other jurisdiction (which statutes are incorporated by reference) to the extent that those powers are not inconsistent with the powers, privileges and status under this Will;

My ancillary executor will administer the assets of my probate estate in the other jurisdiction and turn these assets over to my Executor as soon as practical and as appropriate.

3.3 Bond. My executor will not be required to give bond or other security in any jurisdiction. If despite this exoneration a bond is required for any reason, no sureties will be required.

3.4 Acts of Others. No executor will be liable to anyone for anything done or not done by any other executor.

3.5 Successor. A successor executor has the same position with its powers and duties as the prior executor without additional title transfer. A person will become successor executor according to law after acceptance of the position of executor in writing.

3.6 Vote. Except as specifically otherwise limited by this Will, (A) reference to the Executor refers to all those acting from time to time as an executor and, (B) if two or more executors are eligible to act on a given matter, they will each have one vote and will act by majority. The vote will bind the estate and its beneficiaries and may be relied upon by persons involved in transactions with respect to the estate.

4.GUARDIAN. 4.1 Requested Persons. If it should be desirable to appoint a guardian of any child of mine, then I nominate Yvonne Louise Westfall to serve as such guardian without the requirement of a bond. If Yvonne Louise Westfall is unable or unwilling to serve or continue serving as guardian hereunder, I nominate Christopher William Coleman to serve as such guardian without the requirement of a bond. If both Yvonne Louise Westfall and Christopher William Coleman are unable or unwilling to serve or continue serving as guardian hereunder, then I nominate Joy Bonady Shepherd to serve as such guardian without the requirement of a bond.

4.2 Reimbursement. I intend that the guardian not bear the financial burden of room, board, medical, or other expenses incurred by my child living with the guardian. Accordingly, if the guardian does not have a duty of support, it is my request that he or she be reimbursed from the assets of any trusts created by me for the child for any payments that have been made for that child's benefit.

5. ADMINISTRATION. 5.1 Fiduciary Powers. Except to the extent inconsistent with other specified powers or as limited by this Will, the following powers will be exercisable without court authority by the Executor:

(1) to buy, sell, lease, convey, grant security interests in, mortgage and pledge estate assets (real or personal property) on terms (that include periods that start in the future or extend beyond the term of a related trust unless otherwise limited by perpetuity limitations) that the executor determines advisable (with or without notice at either public or private sale and subject only to those confirmations and other requirements of local law and courts which may not be waived by my direction), including with respect to any warranties or indemnifications;

(2) to access, handle, distribute and dispose of my digital assets which will include files stored on my digital devices, including but not limited to, desktops, laptops, tablets, peripherals, storage devices, mobile telephones, smartphones, and any similar digital device which currently exists or may exist as technology develops or such comparable items as technology develops and for this purpose the term "digital assets" also includes but is not limited to emails received, email accounts, digital music, digital photographs, digital videos, software licenses, social network accounts, file sharing accounts, financial accounts, domain registrations, DNS service accounts, web hosting accounts, tax preparation service accounts, online stores, affiliate programs, other online accounts and similar digital items which currently exist or may exist as technology develops or such comparable items as technology develops, regardless of the ownership of the physical device upon which the digital item is stored;

(3) (a) to hold and retain any estate assets in the form received (including by continuation of a sole proprietorship or other business form);

(b) to invest and reinvest estate assets in all forms of real and personal property, which includes:

(i) investment or reinvestment in loans, bonds, notes, futures, stock or other securities of any kind, shares or participating interests in any common trust fund of any corporate trustee, mutual funds and other forms of joint investment (that may be managed by, advised by or affiliated with a trustee), insurance, annuities, real estate, mortgages, real estate trusts, partnerships, mutual funds, venture capital or other private equity, leveraged or speculative funds, closely held businesses, tax shelters, foreign assets, oil and gas and other natural resource interests, equipment, commodities, currencies, collectibles, precious metals or other real or personal property of any kind considered appropriate in executor discretion, and

(ii) investment or reinvestment by organization, operation and dissolution of businesses as corporations, sole proprietorships, general or limited partnerships, limited liability companies, business trusts, joint ventures or other forms (with authority to elect to a board of directors any individual executor or officer or employee of any corporate executor or an affiliated entity, to pay premiums on liability insurance maintained for any such individual executor or officer or employee acting as a director and to receive additional compensation in respect of this service);

(c) to exercise all options, rights and privileges to convert stocks, bonds, notes, mortgages or other property into stocks, bonds, notes, mortgages or other property, subscribe for additional other stocks, bonds, notes, mortgages or other property and make such conversions and subscriptions and payments for such conversions and subscriptions and hold such stocks, bonds, notes, mortgages or other property so acquired as investments of the trust;

(4) to trade in securities, including by options, short sales, futures and on margin, and to maintain margin accounts and pledge securities held by the executor for loans and advances to the probate estate;

(5) to borrow from any source (including from an executor individually) and mortgage or pledge any estate assets;

(6) to permit and engage in the use and severance of natural resources (including oil, gas, ore, coal, timber and other minerals and resources) as an owner of real property in which such natural resources are situated, as a lessee, licensee, partner or joint venturer in respect of such use and severance, or as a holder of any royalty, interest or miscellaneous right involving such use and severance, and in so doing, to secure appraisals and geological surveys and studies, make pooling and unitization agreements, make agreements involving the installation or operation of absorption, repressuring or other processing plants, pay delayed rents, lease bonuses, royalties and overriding royalties, drill, rework or recomplete wells, test, explore, treat, mine, produce, recover, process, store, transport and market any minerals or other natural resources, pay all reasonable expenses, employ, supervise and discharge independent contractors and employees and take any other action necessary or desirable in order to use and sever natural resources;

(7) to enter into underwriting, purchase and stockholder deposit agreements, sign prospectuses, sign and file registration statements, give powers of attorney to sign registration statements, execute bonds and take any other action necessary to register and sell securities;

(8) to apply estate assets otherwise distributable to a beneficiary to the use of or for the benefit of the beneficiary, and for a beneficiary under age 21 or legal disability, to transfer the assets to a custodian for the beneficiary under a transfer to minors act or the legal guardian of the beneficiary's estate;

(9) to make allocations and distributions of estate assets in cash or in specific property (including undivided interests), or both, which are not pro rata in character of assets and without regard to the income tax basis of specific property allocated or distributed;

(10) to litigate, submit to arbitration, compromise, adjust or settle claims against or on behalf of the probate estate and execute agreements, deeds, releases and other documents connected with such action;

(11) to retain or take title to any estate assets held as executor in bearer form or in the name of any custodian or nominee, without disclosing this relationship;

(12) to the extent not inconsistent with the above powers, the powers set forth in Ark. Code Ann. §28-69-304(1)-(38) as enacted at this date (which are designated as paragraphs "a" through "ff" of Section 3 of Act 153 of the 1961 Acts of the General Assembly of Arkansas and as paragraphs "(33)" through "(38)" of Section 1 of Act 421 of the 1993 Acts of the General Assembly of Arkansas) which are incorporated in this Will by reference.

These powers may be exercised without regard to any fiduciary requirement concerning nature of legal investments and without liability for lack of productivity, decline in value or lack of diversification, and if the Executor disposes of assets, without liability for loss resulting from any increase in the value of the assets after disposition.

5.2 Principal and Income. Except to the extent the Executor is otherwise restricted by the tax-sensitive or other transfer tax limitations of this Will, for income tax purposes, the Executor has the discretion to allocate capital gains to distributable net income on the books, records and income tax returns of the estate. Otherwise, the determination of all matters with respect to what is principal and income of the probate estate and the allocation of receipts, disbursements and other charges between these accounts will be governed by Arkansas law as it exists from time to time. I incorporate for this purpose any required statutory reference to the Arkansas principal and income statutes.

5.3 Delegation. If permitted by law, one executor may in writing delegate to another executor the exercise of any power held by that executor (but only if the other executor is permitted to exercise the power delegated). Even though revocable, the delegating executor will have no responsibility concerning exercise of the delegated power while the delegation is in effect.

5.4 Compensation. The Executor will be entitled to receive reimbursement for expenses reasonably incurred in administering the probate estate. If an individual serves as Executor, he will by acceptance of the position of executor have waived his compensation for executor services. This waiver may be revoked at any time by this individual for services not yet rendered and this individual Executor will then receive reasonable compensation for executor services. A corporate Executor will receive reasonable compensation for executor services (as approved by any then trustee changer of the Nicholas Coleman Revocable Trust, or if none, the adult beneficiaries of the Nicholas Coleman Revocable Trust, or if none, the applicable court).

5.5 Investment. The Executor may employ, appoint, rely on the advice of and pay reasonable compensation to investment counsel, accountants, attorneys and other professional advisers and agents, attorneys-in-fact, employees and other similar persons the Executor deems reasonably necessary for proper estate administration, without affecting the fees otherwise payable to the Executor. The Executor may delegate discretionary investment authority over investments to investment counsel. The Executor may acquire and retain investments that present a higher degree of risk than would normally be authorized by the "prudent person" rule, with no investment type being prohibited regardless of the risk or speculation. The Executor may retain and acquire property that does not produce income subject to other restrictions or qualifications of this power elsewhere under this Will.

5.6 Conflicts. The fact that the Executor may have conflicting fiduciary and individual interests in a transaction, or may otherwise be interested in a transaction other than as executor, will not be the basis for preventing the Executor from exercising powers with respect to a transaction and the Executor may enter into the transaction so long as it is fair to the probate estate. This recognition of perceived conflict does not relieve the Executor of the fiduciary duties of the position, nor does it reduce them in any manner. Subject to the fairness requirement, this recognition permits:

(1) purchases and sales of investment through a corporate executor or firm of which an executor is a partner, shareholder, proprietor, associate, employee, owner, subsidiary, affiliate or the like and investment in individual securities, mutual funds, partnerships, private placements or other forms of investment promoted, underwritten, managed, or advised by an executor or such a firm;

(2) an executor (or a firm of which an executor is a member or with which an executor is otherwise affiliated) to render accounting, legal or other professional services for the probate estate and to receive both fees for these services and for services as executor unless specifically limited by law.

This recognition also waives the rules of law prohibiting self-dealing between the Executor in a fiduciary capacity and the Executor in an individual capacity, entities with which the Executor may be affiliated in an individual capacity, or entities in which the Executor may have an interest in an individual capacity, but all such transactions will be at arm's length. The intent of this paragraph 5.6 is: (a) to relieve the Executor of any liability for decisions or actions that would constitute self-dealing by a fiduciary if such decisions or actions are made in good faith and (b) to keep a transaction made by the Executor in good faith from being void or voidable by a beneficiary pursuant to the duty of loyalty or similar standard otherwise applicable to the Executor.

5.7 Marital Deduction Administration Matters. The Executor may not exercise any power or discretion in any manner that would infringe upon any legal requirement for the allowance of the marital deduction with respect to the transfer of property to Kelsey Fey Brown outright, in trust for her benefit or otherwise. It is my intent that each marital trust created under the Agreement (if any) will either qualify for the marital deduction without election, or if designed as a QTIP trust, will qualify for the marital deduction as qualified terminable interest property in the event of the QTIP election by the Executor (which election is exercisable in the discretion of the Executor). All of my Will provisions will be construed consistent with this intent.

5.8 Property Insurance. Property transferred by this Will includes any insurance policies on the property or policy proceeds.

5.9 Tax Elections. The Executor may make any elections or allocations available under tax laws an executor is permitted to make.

5.10 Release of Power. The Executor may irrevocably release one or more powers held by the Executor in the position while retaining other powers. This release will be binding on similarly situated successor executors if designated in the release document.

5.11 Nature of Executor Action. Each power, authority, discretion, action or nonaction of an executor is exercisable only in a fiduciary capacity and may not be used by the Executor to enlarge or shift any beneficial interest except as an incidental consequence of the discharge of fiduciary duties and it is my intent that an interested executor will not be deemed for transfer tax purposes to possess tax-sensitive powers (such as a taxable power of appointment) as a result of a fiduciary power, authority or discretion under this Will. Judicial review of executor authority, discretion, action or nonaction will be made under a "good faith" standard of review and subject to correction by a court if the Executor should act without reason, in bad faith or in violation of specific terms of this Will unless this review standard would contradict this intent of my estate plan. Otherwise, I want the Executor to have as much discretion as is consistent with my intent of no unintended transfer taxation. Attorney fees and costs will be reimbursed to this Executor for the defense of a judicial review or other action if a final determination is made by a court or the moving party acknowledges that the Executor did not act or fail, choose or refuse to act without reason or in bad faith. These fees and costs may be advanced at the Executor's request if the advance must be returned without interest in the event of a final court finding of without reason or bad faith. The indemnity granted under this Will is in addition to any and all rights to indemnity implied by law.

N

6. DEBTS, COSTS & TAXES. 6.1 Charges. The Executor will pay or provide for the payment of my funeral, burial and last illness expenses, the costs of the administration of my probate estate, enforceable claims and similar charges (which do not include debts described in paragraph 6.4) from the residue of my probate estate. Subject to the apportionment described in paragraph 6.2, the Executor will pay or provide for the payment of Transfer Taxes (6.2.1) from the residue of my probate estate. The Executor may require that the Trustee of the Nicholas Coleman Revocable Trust (before its division into further trusts, if applicable) provide all or part of the funds required for these items. The Executor may require the Trustee of the Nicholas Coleman Revocable Trust to pay these items directly to third parties for the benefit of my probate estate and avoid probate jurisdiction over them.

6.2 Taxes. 6.2.1 Transfer Taxes Defined. "Transfer Taxes" means all estate, inheritance and other similar transfer taxes (including interest, penalties and any excise or supplemental taxes) assessed at the time of or by reason of my death on my probate estate, a trust or any person (regardless of whether the property with respect to which these taxes are levied passes through my probate estate or not), but does not include:

(1) Code §2032A(c), Code §2057(f) or other similar recapture taxes;
(2) generation-skipping transfer ("GST") taxes other than GST taxes attributable to direct skips of which I am the transferor.

The taxes described in phrases 6.2.1(1) and 6.2.1(2) will be paid as directed by federal law.

6.2.2 Certain Apportionment. Transfer Taxes described in the following clauses will be apportioned as follows and attributed to the classes of property as set forth in subparagraph 6.2.3:

(A) estate or similar taxes attributed to property included in my gross estate that is received as a result of a qualified disclaimer will be paid by the recipient(s) of the disclaimed property;
(B) estate or similar taxes attributed to any part of a transfer of property that otherwise could constitute qualified terminable interest property under Code §2056(b)(7) for which the marital deduction is not allowed (for any reason, including a decision not to elect QTIP treatment) will be paid by the recipient(s) of the nonelected property subject to the following exception: to the extent applicable, these estate or similar taxes will be paid by the recipient of the nonexempt Marital Share to the extent of its assets, with any remaining amount paid by the recipient of the exempt Marital Share;
(C) estate or similar taxes attributed to Included Gift Taxes (6.2.3(2)) will be paid by the recipients of the gifts, with each recipient of property that produced gift tax includible in my gross estate under Code §2035(b) being treated as having received the amount of the gift tax for apportionment calculation purposes;
(D) if I predecease Kelsey Fey Brown, GST taxes attributed by federal law to a direct skip of which I am the transferor will be paid by the recipients of the property;
(E) if I survive Kelsey Fey Brown, GST taxes attributed by federal law to a direct skip of which I am the transferor and that are caused by a qualified disclaimer by a nonskip person will be paid by the recipients of the property;
(F) estate or similar taxes attributed to all Code §2044 property will be apportioned first to the Code §2044 property with the highest GST tax inclusion ratio that is other than zero, then to the Code §2044 property with the next highest GST tax inclusion ratio that is other than zero, and so on only as to Code §2044 property with a GST tax inclusion ratio that is other than zero, and will be paid by the trustee holding the property or the recipient of the property, as applicable;

(G) if I predecease Kelsey Fey Brown, estate or similar taxes attributed to any other property included in my gross estate that does not qualify for the marital, charitable, qualified family-owned business interest or other similar deduction other than the property excepted from this apportionment by subparagraph 6.3 will be paid by the recipients of the property.

6.2.3 Attributable Estate Taxes. The estate or similar taxes attributable:

(1) to Code §2044 property is the difference between (a) the total estate or similar taxes incurred by my estate and (b) the estate or similar taxes that would have been incurred if there were no Code §2044 property;

(2) to any gift taxes that will be included in my gross estate by Code §2035(b) (referred to as "Included Gift Taxes") is the difference between (a) the total estate or similar taxes incurred by my estate, less the estate or similar taxes described in phrase 6.2.3(1) and (b) the estate or similar taxes that would have been incurred if there were no Code §2044 property or Included Gift Taxes;

(3) to the remaining property listed in subparagraph 6.2.2 is the difference between the total estate or similar taxes incurred by my estate less the estate or similar taxes described in phrase 6.2.3(1) and phrase 6.2.3(2).

Except as otherwise directed in subparagraph 6.2.2, if there is more than one recipient of the described property to which tax is apportioned, each recipient or holder of the described property will pay or have apportioned to him a proportionate share of the applicable estate or similar taxes based on the value as finally determined for federal estate tax purposes of the described property received compared to the total value of the described property to which this estate or similar tax is apportioned.

6.2.4 Reimbursement. It is my intent to apportion taxes as described in this paragraph 6.2. The Executor will assert only the rights to reimbursement under Code §§2206, 2207, 2207A, 2207B, 2603 and similar provisions enacted after execution of this Will that are necessary to accomplish this apportionment. I expressly waive all rights of reimbursement that are not consistent with my directed apportionment and this waiver is binding on my Executor, probate estate and other successors in interest to me.

6.3 Property Excepted from Apportionment. My Personal Items (7.3.2), whether a part of my probate estate or held by the trustee of the Trust will not bear any Transfer Tax.

6.4 Liens. Property transferred by this Will which is pledged (by mortgage, security interest or other lien) as security for any debt will be transferred subject to the debt (after application of any applicable credit life insurance proceeds) without reimbursement of any kind from my probate estate.

7. OTHER. 7.1 Survivorship. 7.1.1 Marital. If Kelsey Fey Brown and I should die simultaneously or under circumstances in which it cannot be determined which of us died first, it will be presumed for all purposes under this Will (and for the other situations for which a survivorship declaration is relevant and valid that I have not otherwise specifically addressed in a writing and for which I am allowed to address by this survivorship presumption) that Kelsey survived me.

7.1.2 GST. An individual (the "nonskip person") will be deemed to have not been alive on my death under this Will if this nonskip person is alive on my death but is not alive on the 90th day after my death and the existence of this condition of survivorship causes another individual who would otherwise be assigned to a generation below that of the nonskip person to be assigned to the generation of the nonskip person for GST tax purposes.

7.2 No Pretermission. I recognize at the date of the execution of this Will that it is possible that I might have other children, through adoption or otherwise. I have not failed to provide for this possibility under this Will unintentionally. I have provided for these possible children and their descendants under the terms of the Agreement. Any such children and their descendants will therefore not be considered "pretermitted" for probate or similar law purposes and may not take against this Will. I intend that all of my descendants, current or future, be provided for under the Agreement.

7.3 Certain Definitions. 7.3.1 My Remaining Property. The phrase "My Remaining Property" means that portion of my probate estate which will remain after making (1) the distributions described in paragraph 2.1 that do not lapse and (2) payment of (or provision for) the charges and taxes described in Section 6. Use of this phrase does not exercise any powers of appointment which I have.

7.3.2 Personal Items. The phrase "Personal Items" means my tangible personal property that is of a personal or household nature not held for investment or business purposes such as jewelry, silver, china, books, pictures, sporting goods, guns, tools, clothing, household furniture and furnishings, personal motor vehicles, recreational vehicles and boats, together with any unexpired insurance on this property and any resulting proceeds from this insurance, and subject to any encumbrances. If multiple lists or writings refer to an item, the most recent reference will control.

7.4 Construction. 7.4.1 Gender, Number, Person. Words expressed in gender and number will include other genders and numbers in proper context. Use of the word "person" refers to both natural persons (i.e., individuals) and artificial persons (e.g., corporations, partnerships, etc.) as appropriate to the context.

7.4.2 Headings. Headings are for convenience, are not part of this Will and cannot be used in a construction of it.

7.4.3 Capitalized Words. The generic use of an uncapitalized word or phrase includes within that use in proper context a defined word or phrase that is noted by capitalization. For example, reference to "executor" includes and refers to the Executor or an ancillary executor in proper context. Reference to "Executor" includes the initial, successor and substitute position holders.

N

7.4.4 Corporate Executor. Reference to "corporate executor" refers to a person with fiduciary powers that is not an individual and to the successors in interest to this person's business. A successor in interest to a corporate executor will continue to act as executor.

7.4.5 Tax Terms and Sections. Words or phrases related to taxation will be construed in the context of the federal revenue laws in effect at my death. References to "Code §" are to provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 as in effect at the date of this Agreement and to applicable successor provisions of this or other federal revenue codes.

7.5 Pages. My Will consists of 11 typewritten pages which are sequentially numbered and identified in the lower right hand corner of each page. I have signed this page this date.
